Call for Papers

The 2025 LuxERA Emerging Researchers' Conference invites emerging researchers to present their work to connect and exchange ideas on educational research in a collegial and friendly atmosphere on Belval campus.

The conference provides an open space for a wide range of (inter)disciplinary, theoretical, and methodological contributions about challenges and opportunities in educational research in Luxembourg. Topics might include accessibility for children with special needs, language barriers in multilingual contexts, or educational inequalities based on individual background characteristics, such as social and migration status. LuxERA aims to stimulate exchange and cooperation within the field of education and related fields, such as multilingualism, lifelong learning, history of education, sociology of education, etc.

Contributions: We welcome contributions in the following formats:

- Paper Presentation: 20 minutes presentation
- Poster Pitch: 3-minute pitch during a moderated session
- Ignite Talk: 20 slides delivered in 5 minutes

All contributions will be followed by discussions. The poster presentation gives room to present (preliminary) results, to discuss early stage project ideas and/or to search for project collaborators to stimulate exchange and get feedback. Posters will be considered for the "Best Poster" award. Ignite talks encourage brief, engaging, and focused presentations. All contributions should have an explicit focus on educational research in Luxembourg and related topics.

Languages: English is the preferred language of the conference. However, we also welcome presentations in German, French, or Luxembourgish.

Abstracts: The abstract should cover key questions, theoretical issues, methodology, and (preliminary) findings. Please submit your abstract using the mandatory template forms (see QR code below or the links for the nonblinded and blinded version).

Participation Fees:

- €20 for emerging researchers who are LuxERA members
- €30 for regular LuxERA members
- €60 for non-members

We encourage all researchers in our community to join the association and benefit from discounted participation at ECER and LuxERA events. To become a new member, please fill out the membership form on the website and make sure to transfer your membership fee of 30 € before conference registration. For existing members, reduced participation fees only apply if membership fee was paid before 31st May 2025.

Deadline: The deadline for abstract submission is 15 July 2025. You are informed after the peer review outcome by September 2025 via mail.
